

Living Traditions

Sustainer Fellowship

Nomination Deadline: February 24, 2023 at 6 p.m. CT

Missouri's Living Traditions Sustainer Fellowship seeks to recognize the artistic excellence and lifetime achievement of living traditional artists in the Show Me State. The fellowships will honor those individuals' deep-rooted contributions to their art forms and the vibrant communities in Missouri that the artists support.

Living Traditions Sustainer Fellows will receive a stipend for a public presentation and a recorded oral history to be coordinated by Missouri Folk Arts in late spring 2023.

Nominations close February 24, 2023 at 6 p.m. CT. Missouri's Living Traditions Sustainer Fellowship will be determined by an independent panel in March, announced publicly in April, and celebrated at a reception in May.

Folk and Traditional Arts Definition

Living Traditions Sustainer Fellowships are modeled on the National Heritage Fellowships presented by the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA). For Missouri's fellowship, we use the NEA's definition of folk and traditional arts:

The folk and traditional arts, which include crafts, dance, music, oral traditions, visual arts, and others, are those that are learned as part of the cultural life of a community whose members share a common ethnic heritage, cultural mores, language, religion, occupation, or geographic region. These traditions are shaped by the aesthetics and values of a shared culture and are passed from generation to generation, most often within family and community through observation, conversation, and practice.

Eligibility

Nominees must be current Missouri residents at time of nomination. Nominees must be worthy of statewide recognition and exhibit a sustained record of ongoing artistic accomplishments. Nominees must be actively participating in their traditional art form, either as practitioners or as teachers.

Accessibility

Missouri Folk Arts intends for the nomination process to be accessible to all. Please notify staff well before the deadline for assistance per the Americans with Disabilities Act, language translation, or issues organizing nomination materials.

Criteria

- Current and longstanding record of excellence
- Significance of nominees within the context of their Missouri community's cultural traditions
- Current availability at time of nomination

Multiple Nominations

Nominators may submit multiple nominations.

Selection Process

Nominations and support materials will be reviewed by a panel of traditional arts and community specialists. Competitive nominations will address the role of the nominees in their communities as well as in their traditional arts. Nominators should demonstrate the nominees' lifetime achievements through key support materials. Nominations will be retained automatically for three cycles of panel review.

Funding Support

This project is made possible through funds received from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Missouri Arts Council with administrative support from the Museum of Arts and Archaeology at the University of Missouri. This fellowship program is contingent upon continuation of funds from both the NEA and the MAC.

Missouri Folk Arts Program

In the mid-1980s, the Missouri Arts Council and University of Missouri formed a partnership that established statewide traditional arts projects supporting traditional artists, communities, and organizations with substantive grant funds from the National Endowment for the Arts and Missouri Arts Council.

Since 1993, Missouri Folk Arts Program has been anchored at the Museum of Art and Archaeology, where programming includes the apprenticeship program, annual folk arts grants, regional traditions discovery surveys, and public outreach with funds from established partners and individual donors.

Missouri Folk Arts strives to build cross-cultural understanding by documenting, sustaining, and presenting our state's living folk arts and folklife in collaboration with Missouri's citizens.

Submitting a Nomination

Missouri Folk Arts invites nominations from individuals and organizations. Self-nomination is welcome. In the text, staff recommends nominators use a larger font size (11pt or larger), sans serif fonts, and sufficient white space.

Please submit nominations and support materials via email in Microsoft Word and/or PDF to the following address: missourifolkartsprogram@gmail.com.
